After the invasion of Ukraine in 2022, a lot of Russian men and women faced a brutal choice: prison, the army—or exile. Margarita, Yuri and their friends, are part of a generation pushed into exile as they refuse to comply with the Russian regime. Caught in the crosscurrents of history, suspended between countries and searching for a place they can call home, with nowhere to return, and nowhere they feel truly welcome.

Ti-Kong, the famous Kung-fu master, is found dead. Could the assassin be the Machiavellian doctor Sweeper? Insecure Francis falls into his clutches as he becomes a crucial part of Sweeper's scheme to preserve absolute male domination over the globe. That is unless Sonia, Francis' girlfriend, decides to take action to save him, restore their relationship, and establish peace between the sexes.

DIRECTOR

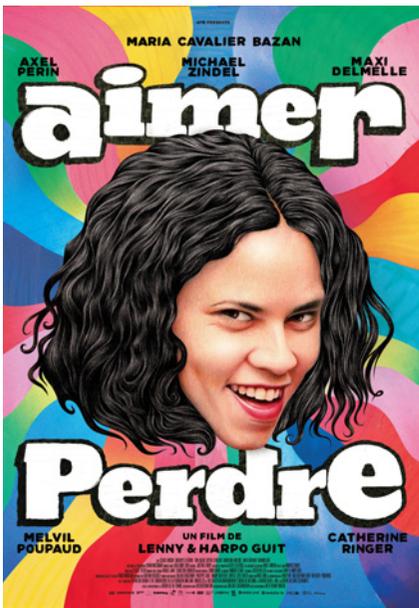

Jean-Baptiste Saurel

CAST

Vanessa Guide
Franc Bruneau
Cyril Guei
Xavier Lacaille
Bruno Guery

"A wacky, accomplished and very funny comedy... Astonishing and rather jubilant cheek into territory very rarely explored by French cinema... Echoes of Judd Apatow's US "rom coms" and Hong Kong films à la Tsui Hark, on a thread of unabashed humour remotely reminiscent of a sort of post-modern Jerry Lewis."

Strange storms of yellow dust fall on a town. Nacer, a 45-year-old journalist, is covering the phenomenon. As he observes the appearance of supernatural events, his dead wife Fajar comes back as nothing happened.

Faced with increasingly threatening storms, Nacer must unravel a haunting past from dark years everyone wanted to forget.

DIRECTOR

Dania Reymond-Boughenou

CAST

Khaled Benaïssa
Camélia Jordana
Shirine Boutella
Mehdi Ramdani

"Emerges as a solid demonstration of Reymond-Boughenou's directorial chops... Magical and expressive, letting the lyricality of the story take over... A pleasant and often entrancing visual style."

— CINEUROPA

"An ambitious, accomplished and serious-minded attempt to address grief, political reconciliation and the legacy of conflict in a way that fuses the real and the fantastic, the languages of political thriller, ghost story and eco-disaster spectacle – all on a tightly controlled art-cinema scale."

"A strong cast, Jordana has a compellingly enigmatic presence... DoP Augustin Barbaroux makes a virtuoso effort, especially in the dense yellow atmospherics of the final act."

DIRECTOR

Christina Vandekerckhove

CAST

Matteo Simoni
Basil Wheatley

"The film paints a beautiful portrait of Milano, it allows us into his sensory universe through the on-screen representation of his deafness by way of sound... A wonderful performance of the young Basil Wheatley... Soul Stirring."

— CINEUROPA

"Christina Vandekerckhove's debut is an exception, important enough to be worthy of standing alongside the classics for its depth of exploration into the human soul."

— NOIDONNE

"An emotional and poetic exploration of parenthood and friendship, blending the rawness of reality with the sensitivity of fiction... A debut that touches the heart and that knows how to dig into the depths of the soul... Demonstrates the power of cinema in giving voice to stories that often go unheard."
